

Community - Events Streaming

Khoros will create a customization within a Customer Community allowing for live events to be streamed directly into community.

Service Description

Khoros will create a custom interaction style & layout in support of live streaming event videos as follows:

- The existing blog interaction style will be copied and repurposed to be used to display the video stream to the user
  - Note: existing traditional blogs will continue to function as their own separate interaction style
- Live video stream source can be from either YouTube or Vimeo
  - A user creating a live video stream in Community will be able to select either YouTube or Vimeo as the source of the stream
- Develop custom components specific to the Event Stream Page as follows:
  - Live Events
  - Recent Events
  - Upcoming Events (includes Event Stream Article Page)
- Update the blog message editor fields to support:
  - YouTube Video ID
  - Vimeo Video ID
  - Live Date
  - Status (Upcoming, Currently Live and Archived)
  - Calendar link (URL link to external event calendaring system)
  - Event Description
- Author will be able to set event stream status to Upcoming, Live, Archived (not automated)
- Floating video player – on scroll, video continues playing on screen
- Events Streaming customization will inherit existing community styling

Key milestones

- Khoros will deploy Event Streaming customization in Stage
- Customer will test & validate Event Streaming customization in Stage
- Khoros will deploy Event Streaming customization to Production after Customer acceptance of Stage

Deliverables

- Event streaming customization

Prerequisites of this service

Customer must have a current Success Services plan and an active Khoros Community.

Requirements of this services

Customer will provide Vimeo and/or YouTube live streaming service.

Limitations of this service

- This customization supports YouTube and Vimeo as the event streaming source. Additional sources may be possible but would be subject to change order which may incur additional fees.
- This customization is being provided to Customer as a one-off customization by Khoros Professional Services. Customer acknowledges that Event Streaming within Khoros Communities is on the roadmap to be released within the core product.
- Any events created within Customer Community using this customization will not be ported or migrated to core Events Streaming.